Students Take Charge As Faculty Retreats

BRITISHER TO BRING LECTURES ON EVANGELISM

MITCHELL

Olivet Nazarene College will be host to Rev. T. Chrichton Mitchell of London, England from September 26-30. The Rev. Mitchell has been selected as speaker for the first annual R. T. Williams' Lectures on Evangelism. Presently the pastor of Thomas Memorial Church of the Nazarene in London and for years a leader in the British holiness movement, Mitchell is now engaged in a two-month lecturing and preaching tour of Nazarene churches and colleges in the United States.

Mitchell has been preaching for 25 years, beginning at the age of 15. Paisley, Scotland was formerly his pastorate for seven years, and he also pastored in Bolton, England. He at one time taught on the staff of Hurler Nazarene College and is a life-long student of homiletics and expository preaching.

Books are an important part of Mr. Mitchell's life. He has authored one book concerning the life and works of the founder of Methodism, John Wesley. He is also very familiar with the hymns of Charles Wesley.

In addition to his visit to Olivet, Mr. Mitchell will make stops at two other Nazarene colleges. They are: Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, Idaho; and Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Oklahoma.

Mr. Mitchell is married and the father of three children.

Arminius Recognition To Be Held at Olivet

The 400th anniversary of the birth of James Arminius, the Dutch theologian who laid the foundation for Wesleyan theology, is being celebrated on Olivet's campus by a two day theological conference on Oct. 6 and 7 which, according to public relations director Professor R. L. Lunsford, is expected to attract ministers, professors and students from other Christian colleges, and interested laymen from all over the educational zone and beyond.

The conference will be highlighted by lectures from the dean of Nazarene theologians, Dr. H. Orton Wiley, on the subject "Central Points of Arminianism." Other principal speakers will be General Superintendent Dr. Samuel Young, who will lecture on the relationship between Arminius and John Wesley; and Olivet professor, Dr. Carl Bangs, who will lecture on "Arminius and Protestantism" and "Enduring Values in Arminius." Discussion leaders for the conference will be Dr. Paul T. Culbertson, Dean of Pasadena College; Dr. William T. Greathouse, Dean of Religion at Trevecca Nazarene College; and Dr. J. Kenneth Grider, associate professor of theology at the Nazarene Seminary.

Approximately 70 advance registrations have been received already. Registration may be made by writing to Dr. Ralph Perry, Olivet Nazarene College, Kankakee, Illinois. Meals are available on campus, and hotel and motel rooms are available. The conference will begin on Thursday morning at 9:30 with a chapel message by Dr. Wiley, and will close on Friday evening with a lecture by Dr. Wiley.

In addition to the conference itself, rare books, manuscripts and pictures relating to Arminius and Wesley will be displayed in the Memorial Library.

Student Administrative Workshop Held This Week

The conference room of the Memorial Library was the setting this year for Olivet's fourth annual Student Administration Workshop. The workshop was held on Sept. 19 and 20.

Those who participated in this program were administrative officers, some faculty and staff members, student leaders and selected student council members.

The workshop is intended to create a spirit of unity and understanding between the administration and student leaders while both are working in the coming school year.

The opening session began Monday, Sept. 19, at 10:15 a.m. with a welcome and introduction of guests. In this session and those that followed topics dealing with responsibilities of Olivet's student and administration, and the relation of student activities to the total academic program were discussed. Presiding as analysts were Dr. Harold W. Reed, President of Olivet, and Darel Grothaus, President of the Associated Student Body.

The group met in the Mural Room at 6:00 p.m. on Monday for a banquet which marked the final session of the day. Guest speaker for the banquet was Dr. Vernon Snowbarger, Dean of Students, Bethany Nazarene College, who spoke on "Maintaining Academic Excellence on a Nazarene College Campus."

Opening the session on Tuesday morning was the Student Council Sponsor, Professor Billy F. Hobbs, presenting the Quadrennial Theme—"Evangelism First." The following two sessions found continued discussions with adjournment following the fifth session.

Directors of the workshop were Dr. John H. Cotner and Darel Grothaus.

Founder's Day September 30th

Olivet's 53rd Founder's Day program Sept. 30, 1960 will be highlighted by the dedication of the new Women's dormitory, Nesbitt Hall. The ceremonies will begin at 9:15 in the morning and continue during the rest of the day.

Dr. G. B. Williamson, one of the Church of the Nazarene's six general superintends, will bring the dedicatory address. Following his address will be the cutting of the ribbon by Miss Mary Nesbitt, Olivet's first teacher. Other parts of the program will include several presentations by the Orpheus Choir and the Olivet Marching Band.

While the faculty and administration of Olivet Nazarene College retreat to Springfield, Illinois today and tomorrow, the complete operation of the school will be taken over by the students.

Campus leaders will fill the administrative posts with various students taking faculty positions. This is in accord with a tradition which was inaugurated at Olivet six years ago.

Those students filling administrative positions are as follows:

President, Darel Grothaus; Dean of College, Leola Hay; Dean of Students, Dave Bowman; Registrar, Ovid Young; Assistant Registrar, Ralph Close; Business Manager, David Reedy; Comptroller, Dave Strawn; Coordinator of Public Information, Gary Wilson; Assistant to the President in charge of Financial Development, Leon James; Field Secretary, Lowell Thomas; Secretary of Development Council, Jim Hutchinson; College Church Pastor, Roy Smith; Librarian, Davette Crow; Women's Residence Counselor, Jan Sirrine; Men's Residence Counselor, Ralph Hill.

According to Ralph E. Perry, chairman of the Retreat Committee, the faculty will be checking in at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel in Springfield this morning.

At 11:00 a.m., Dr. Vernal Carmichael of Ball State Teachers College will address the group on the subject, "My Preparation for Excellence in Teaching."

Grothaus as Dr. Reed

After lunch the faculty will have a session with the campus planner, Mr. John E. Severns, AIA, of Richardson, Severns, Scheeler and Associates of Champaign, Illinois.

From 3:00 to 6:00 p.m. there will be a tour of the Old Lincoln Village at New Salem State Park.

Following the evening meal at New Salem Lodge, Dr. Carmichael will speak on the subject, "My Christian Witness as a Nazarene Teacher."

After breakfast Saturday morning there will be a devotional period, followed by free time to visit the Lincoln points of interest around Springfield.

The Saturday noon lunch will be served at the Washington Park Pavilion in Springfield with adjournment of the retreat following.

Three student leaders who participated in the workshop are 1. to r.: Dean Waldfogel, Leola Hal, Ovid Young.

ching Band. There is also a tour of Nesbitt Hall for the Board of Trustees.

The remainder of the day will be sparked by many meetings. Most important of which is the meeting of the Board of Trustees with the Development Committee at 11:00 a.m. and the meeting of the Board of Trustees with the Campus Planners at 2:00 p.m.

Another very important aspect of Founder's Day this year is the launching of the Fund Drive for our new Science Building. It is hoped that the success of the Science Building Fund Drive will be as successful as was the fund drive for Nesbitt Hall. The total cost of Nesbitt Hall was $412,000 and the funds raised totaled more than $428,000.

Glimmerglass to Appear Seven More Times this Semester

The Glimmerglass will be published seven more times during the first semester as announced by Lowell Thomas, Editor-in-chief.

Tentative plans call for nine issues to be printed during the coming second semester.

Dates that the Glimmerglass will appear for the remainder of this semester are as follows: Friday, October 7; Friday, October 21; Friday, November 4; Wednesday, November 23; Friday, December 9; Wednesday, December 21; and Friday, January 13.

Strive For A Birdie

If you play golf, you are aware that a birdie is one stroke better than par and an eagle is two strokes better. Par, of course, is that designated number of strokes in which a hole should be played.

The average golfer is more than happy to obtain par on several holes during the course of a game. The professional golfer, is not satisfied with par scores. He must achieve throughout his game several birdies and eagles in order to be a winning player.

Let us apply this to our personal lives. If we are to be of benefit to ourselves, our family, our neighbors, mankind, and especially God, we must endeavor to live to the fullest extent of our capabilities. We must be above average. By constantly striving for the birdies and eagles, each day will be one of accomplishment and success. One which we can look back upon and feel that we grew a little more in wisdom and strength.

There will be failures. We can thank human nature for that. But remember that Ben Hogan and Sam Snead reached the top in golf by striving for a better than par game.

As we begin this scholastic year, let's strive for a higher excellence; socially, academically and spiritually. I promise you gratifying results.

The Religious Question

Ever since it became remotely possible that a Roman Catholic might occupy the White House the corner barbershop has been filled with talk about "the religious question." When the forecasts of the political prognosticators was affirmed in Los Angeles by the nomination of the junior Senator from Massachusetts, even the non-committal barber ventured an opinion about "the religious question."

The candidates have candidly expressed themselves. Mr. Kennedy for personal reasons and Mr. Nixon for political reasons have disavowed any relationship to the concept that religion plays a part in politics. Both insist that public service and religious convictions do not mix. John Q. Public, according to the pollsters, agrees, in general, with Messrs. Kennedy and Nixon except in the vaguely delineated areas known as the Midwest and the South.

What is the student on Olivet's campus thinking? Has he considered the utter impotence of religious convictions severed from public reference? How more anemic can religion become?

One more question. Does a study of the history of Romanism bare out the supposition that politics and religion are mutually exclusive? Be assured, this is a political question as well as a "religious question."

D. B.

Speaking Frankly

by Dwight McMurrin

It has been very disturbing to me to hear incessantly the many ignorant and careless remarks pertaining to the so-called "religious issue" in the present political campaign for President. It is especially disturbing when products of our own Olivet culture, "education with a Christian purpose," come forth with: "Isn't it actually illegal for a Catholic to become President?" and, "Don't you know that if a Catholic is elected President, the public schools will be closed within four years?" I realize that these are more of the absurd, but bear in mind that these utterances just quoted were made in all seriousness by two recent Olivet graduates. I am sure that you, too, have heard many ridiculous accusations, already, here on Olivet's campus.

I suppose you have also wondered at times, "Should I keep silent when I hear these outrageous charges, or should I voice my disgust and repugnance?"

My own belief is that we must voice our dissent here or lose our clear consciences. We cannot join in the hatred, our souls losing. We cannot seek refuge in silence, our inner voice haunting us. We must speak out truthfully and clearly. We need more voices proclaiming Christian charity, and fewer spewing out malicious insinuations; i.e., we need sanity in place of bigotry.

This means that, for example, when someone brings up the false Knights of Columbus oath that is making the rounds now, as it did also in the 1928 presidential campaign, instead of keeping silent and allowing this lie to go unanswered, you can state that this false oath has been proven a fraud by the Commission on Fair Campaign Practices. When you hear someone express concern over the possibility of an ambassador being appointed to the Vatican, you can answer here that it was a Baptist president that proposed it and that the Catholic now running for president is on record against it. There are many examples where a simple word of truth can help dispel a bit of darkness, bigotry, ignorance, or whatever you choose

OLIVETIANS SPEAK

Dear Editor:

I think it is time for we as Nazarenes to consider the issues at stake in the election, November 8. From a distance it looks as though it is going to be a close campaign, but from Olivet's campus it appears to be a shoo in for one candidate simply because the other is a Catholic. This, on a campus where freedom of thought and intellectual thinking appears to come first—after the religious issue is settled. I have never seen such an exhibition of slander to ruin one man seeking our highest office simply because he belongs to a church which does not believe as we do! Some of the literature I have read that is circulating on our campus could only have been written by someone who knows little, if anything, of our system of government and the Catholic Church. Such unchristian attitudes are entirely uncalled for in a political campaign. If these individuals could see through their blindness in a one-sided attack, they would realize that they are aiming at the wrong target. For the real object of their attack should not be a political candidate but rather the undemocratic aspects of the institution to which he belongs.

Since the days of Lincoln, the man who first opposed Catholics in public office, there has been little condemnation directed toward Catholics seeking public office with the exception of 1928. I say that we as a Church should have begun long ago an attack upon the undemocratic aspects of the Catholic Church. In this situation we have a real Christian and social obligation to fight those principles which we find contrary to the Constitution.

I challenge you who are unprejudiced and thinking Christians, who are interested in your duty as a citizen to examine your thinking. Are you willing to let this unchristian-like attack on one man to be your excuse as a battle against what we as true Christians believe to be wrong, or are you ready to realize that our objection lies in the political philosophy of the institution to which Mr. Kennedy belongs. We of the Church have been neglecting to fight that which is wrong. Now is the time to start. Let us go to our knees, let us go to our church leaders, let us become as well informed as possible in order to carry our fight to the Congress of the United States where legislation can be passed to protect us from any future occasions when a candidate for the highest office of the United States belongs to this or any other organization containing undemocratic principles.

ED. NOTE. The GLIMMERGLASS will carry in this and successive issues a "letters to the editor" column titled "Olivetians Speak."

All students are urged to channel their positive and negative ideas on campus and world affairs into this outlet.

Contributions must be signed by the writer and may be submitted to "Olivetians Speak," Box 125, or brought to the GLIMMERGLASS office.

Books in Review

by Fred Lee

In spirit with this presidential election year, the book selected for this month is American Voting Behavior, edited by Eugene Burdick and Arthur J. Brodbeck, and published by The Free Press, Glencoe, Illinois. The book presents a stimulating exploration into the dynamics of the voting process, the forces which mold the voter's opinions and determine his political choices.

American Voting Behavior is a collection of essays on voting patterns by prominent figures in the fields of sociology, economics, business, political science, psychiatry, psychology, and mathematical research. Each author contributes the personal hue of his field to the overall picture of voting processes with the result of a truly dynamic picture of voting behavior.

The book explores such topics as mass communication affects, emotional factors in voting behavior, "voting" and the equilibrium of the American political system, social determinism and the electoral decision, and other interesting topics.

I have listed below a few quotations from the book which I'm sure will appeal to your curiosity.

"The politically independent voter is probably an individual who, if he has strong primary group affiliations at all, is likely to be linked to politically heterogeneous groups whose politics are of low relevance and he himself probably considers politics fairly unimportant. This is a striking contrast to the stereotype of the politically rational, alert man who has not sold his loyalty to either party but who judges candidates and issues on their merits."

"The number of people who have already made up their minds before the campaign begins... make "conversion" through any medium particularly difficult during an election."

American Voting Behavior can be found in the campus library. The call number is 324.73 B897a.

Christian Concerts

by Wes Robbins

We have heard much talk in the opening weeks of school of "academic excellence." The faculty has been challenged to greater efforts in class preparation and stimulating presentation of material. The upper-classmen have been asked to redouble their academic efforts. The freshmen have been made aware in their orientation program that this is an academic institution; to be sure, Christian, but nevertheless academic. Therefore, they too, have been asked to strive for excellence in their academic work.

There are obvious reasons for this emphasis on Olivet's academic program, not the least of which is the infamous ineligibility list, of which any good Olivetian should be completely ashamed. There is also the necessity of combatting the image that some have in their minds of Olivet as a young people's institute or a perpetual campmeeting.

But the call to excellence academically, while it is fitting on any college campus, has even more place in a Christian institution, for no one can deny that the Christian is duty bound to his Master to do his best to be prepared for service. Therefore, before we can truthfully say with Isaiah, "Here am I; send me," we must first be certain that our preparation is as thorough and complete as possible. What better way to do this than to strive at all times for academic excellence?

The term academic excellence may be strange to some, but simply stated it means to the student the greatest possible mastery of the material presented by the instructor and the various textbooks. It by no means implies a four point average in every case, but aims at the goal of each individual achieving his potential in terms of his ability to learn and reproduce this learning in the classroom and on tests.

But back to the question of the place of academic excellence in the life of a Christian. Paul says in his letter to the Corinthian church, "Whether

New Faculty Members Give Impressions

Coming to Olivet's campus this fall are four new faculty members. Already they have gone through the ordeal of student registration, and are well into their scheduled process of activities and duties. The additions have been made in the departments of fine arts and physical education; one addition has been made to the library staff.

Prof. Curtis Brady has been named chairman of the division of fine arts. He is a former Olivetian, graduating with a B.S. in 1952. Mr. Brady received his M.S. from the University of Illinois in 1953, and has completed his residence requirement for his Ph.D. at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. The newly-appointed chairman will reside in Bourbonnais with his wife and nineteen-month old son, Danny. When asked regarding his impressions of the college and students in his capacity as a faculty member, Mr. Brady replied, "The thing I think most impressive is the sincerity in the sense of purpose which I find in the students."

Also, filling a position in the fine arts department is Miss Margarita Sawatzky, voice instructor. Miss Sawatzky is from Sunnyslope, Alberta, Canada where her parents and two older brothers now live. She received a music and Bible diploma from the Mountain View Bible College in Didsbury, Alberta. From there she transferred to Cascade College, Portland, Oregon to complete her A.B. degree. During her junior and senior years at Cascade she was a house counselor. Miss Sawatzky also received her M.MUS. in Portland, at the University of Portland. "I am impressed with the warm friendliness and helpfulness of faculty, staff and students," says Miss Sawatzky, "and am enthused about the adminstration's policy to promote academic excellence. This, plus the emphasis to put God first in all things, makes Olivet ideal for students and teachers alike."

Coming from Ohio to be the assistant librarian is Miss Adeline R. VanAntwerp. Miss VanAntwerp has received her education in the east earning an A.B. from Houghton College, a B.S. from State Teacher's College, Geneseo, New York, and her M.A. from State Teacher's College, Albany, New York. She worked for nine years in the public school systems in the east. She was then a faculty member at Cleveland Bible College for six years. (Cleveland Bible College is now known as Malone College). She was then employed at the Aultman Hospital in Canton, Ohio for three years. While she was at Aultman she worked 50% of her time in the school of nursing and the other time was spent working in the medical library. When asked of her first impressions of the college, Miss VanAntwerp replied, "First impressions aren't always lasting, but in my case they have only been verified. The warmth of my welcome and genuine interest in my being in the Olivet family have been much appreciated in the midst of the whirl of getting to know who's what and what's where."

Mrs. Lora Hiatt Donaho, also a former Olivetian, will be filling the capacity of womens physical education instructor. She graduated from Olivet with an A.B. degree and has done graduate work at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois. She taught for seven years in the Illinois public school system in Decatur. When asked her feelings toward the prospect of teaching at her alma mater, Mrs. Donaho answered, "It should be exciting."

English Clinic Improved

A new function of the English Department is the English clinic which was experimented with and utilized during the last semester.

Students who have need of additional help in English can be referred to the clinic by their professors, or they may refer themselves. The student, however, improves more satisfactorily if he attends the clinic applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Deadline Nearing For Scholarships

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad. Successful candidates are required to be affiliated with approved institutions of higher learning abroad.

Enrolled students should consult Dr. Snowbarger, Dean of College for information and applications or write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York 21, New York.

Only two months remain to apply for some 800 Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or research in 30 countries, the Institute of International Education reminded prospective applicants today. Applications are being accepted until November 1.

Recipients of Fulbright awards for study in Europe, Latin America, and the Asia-voluntarily, according to Professor F. B. Dunn, head of the clinic.

The student's problem is analyzed by diagnosing a sample of his oral or written work. A reading comprehension weakness is easily detected through oral reading. The student's weaknesses are signified by his responses to questions.

Another source of analysis of the basic problem of a student is an objective work sheet. A diagnosis of the errors on this sheet points out the weak areas.

The frequency of use of the clinic was compared with that of the University of Illinois. Two per cent of our enrollment have taken advantage of this aid; while 1% of the University of Illinois enrollment have used that clinic.

According to Dunn, "The volume and caliber of the work of the English clinic will be much improved this year. Weaknesses in the program have been removed and corrected. The clinic will be of greater service to the student body."

Students who may be interested in the benefits of the clinic should go to room 407 in the Burke administration building.

Pacific area will receive tuition, maintenance and round-trip travel. IACC scholarships cover transportation, tuition, and partial maintenance costs. IIE administers both of these student programs for the U.S. Department of State.

Youth Need Direction Stressed at President's Dinner

The Kankakee Hotel was the scene of the annual President's Dinner held Tuesday evening, September 6.

Faculty, staff members, and lay people totaling 143 heard Dr. Harold W. Reed, President of Olivet Nazarene College, speak on the young persons need today for a "sense of direction."

Young people of today "will be committed to your care," said Dr. Reed. He went on to say that the "emphasis of the professor should not be upon transient and speculative theories but upon truths that are eternal."

Dr. Reed further stated that the "Tide of American thought and life" makes it necessary for Olivet to be devoted to the "Biblical revelation of God, of man and of the world."

"It must aggressively challenge the pagan and secular theories of reality and history and it must supply a steady stream of spiritual leadership to all professions, vocations and callings including diplomacy, business and communications," he said.

J. Harlan Milby, assistant to the president in charge of financial development, speaking preceding Dr. Reed, announced that the amount of cash and pledges received on Nesbitt Hall totaled $428,000; $16,000 more than needed. This new girls dormitory, now in operation, will be dedicated Sept. 30.

Milby, among several staff and faculty recipients of awards presented by Dr. Reed, received the presidents annual merit award for staff members.

Awards for specific years of service to the college were as follows:

Twenty-five years: Dr. C. J. Bushey, associate professor of biological sciences; D. J. Strickler, chairman of the department of biological sciences; Dr. C. S. McClain, registrar and chairman of the department of English.

Twenty years: W. D. Rice,

Library Gets New Catalog

Did you know that approximately 1500 new books are added to the library each year? And for each of these new titles, there are, on the average, four catalog cards? To take care of this increase in cards, the library has purchased a new 60 tray section for the card catalog. Although such furniture is very costly, it is a necessity and a benefit to each student.

With the purchase of these card trays, the staff had to shift cards to the new trays to leave ample space for more new cards. The catalog is now in order and ready for use by the students.

chairman of the department of physics; Ed Brodien, campus engineer.

Fifteen years: Dr. Ella L. Gale, professor emeritus of organ; F. O. Parr, chairman of the department of sociology.

Ten years: Leonard Anderson, chairman of the department of business administration and economics; Albert Bloom, campus gardener; Mrs. Ruth Lane, school nurse; Miss Esther Tripp, college bookkeeper.

Five years: Dr. Vernon T. Groves, chairman of the division of education and psychology; Gardner Walmsley, assistant professor of French; Mrs. Emily S. Reeves, head resident counselor for women, and Mrs. Jean Olson, resident counselor for Williams Hall.

Science Department Gets New Telescope

The physics department purchased a twelve-inch reflector telescope this August for use in undergraduate studies. The telescope is to be placed temporarily in a small building being erected south of the new tennis courts. It will eventually be located in an observatory on the new science building.

The telescope was made by the Criterion Manufacturing Company of Hartford, Conn., which specializes in optical instruments. The telescope was ordered in the early summer, but since the company makes no instrument of this type in advance, Olivet had to wait until the apparatus could be constructed.

Professor David Rice, chairman of the physics department, hopes that the purchase of this telescope will lead to the rescheduling of classes in astronomy, which have not been taught for several years. The course was particularly popular during the second world war, when many of the men took astronomy.

The telescope is of the same type as those at the Mount Wilson and Mount Palomar Observatories. It is driven electrical-

Apollo Choir Replaced By Two Choruses

The change in the music curriculum this year has been a big topic for discussion. In the place of Apollo Choir will be the Viking Male Chorus and Treble Clef Choir. The reason for this change is that a large music department with just two mixed choirs prevents too many music students from having vocal ensemble experience.

This change is not something

Glimmerglass To Exchange News With Sister Colleges

Beginning this year, the GLIMMERGLASS will be maintaining a correspondence with each of the other Nazarene colleges in the United States and will endeavor to bring items of interest from their campuses to the students of Olivet.

Briefly, here are the colleges and their locations:

Bethany Nazarene College was founded in 1899 and is located at Bethany, Oklahoma. Its president is Dr. Roy H. Cantrell. The college is fully accredited by the North Central Association of colleges and Secondary Schools.

Dr. Edward L. Mann is the president of Eastern Nazarene College. The college, at Quincy, Mass., was founded in the year 1900. Shrader Hall, a new science building, has just been completed at a cost of $526,000. This is part of the $2,000,000 construction project which includes a womens dormitory and a student union building.

Nampa, Idaho is the location of Northwest Nazarene College. It was founded in 1913, and has for its president Dr. John E. Riley. It is a fifty-two acre campus with 15 buildings, a student enrollment of 600 and a faculty of 37.

Pasadena College can boast as its founder, Dr. Phineas F. Bresee. It was founded in 1912 and is still located in Pasadena, California.

Founded in 1901, Trevecca Nazarene College is located in Nashville, Tennessee. The present campus site was purchased in 1938 under President A. B. Mackey, who is president of the college now.

ly in such a way to compensate for the movement of the earth. This enables the operator to observe or photograph for long periods of time the celestial body on which the telescope is fixed.

Summer Math Convention

Two professors and a math major attended the summer meeting of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in Salt Lake City, Utah from Aug. 21-24.

While in Salt Lake City, the three attended morning and afternoon sessions of the convention on the campus of the University of Utah. Among the lecturers was Dr. F. E. Hohn of the University of Illinois who gave a lecture on "The Matrix Concept." Other lecturers were John Kelley of the University of California, who talked on "Induction, Sets and Numbers," and Edwin Moise of Harvard University explaining "Infinite Numbers."

On Tuesday afternoon the three fellows took time out from the convention to attend an organ concert given in the Mormon Tabernacle.

new. The music department is returning to a previous custom so that it will be in a position to assure every student who can meet the required standards the experience of singing in a vocal ensemble.

According to C. K. Brady, chairman of the division of fine arts, "a sounder educational policy is established. More music students will be better equipped to go into the public schools to teach music."

Personal Peeks

Parties Orientate Freshmen

Along with the activities planned to fill a Freshman's day during Orientation week, there were parties and receptions to fill the evenings. These parties were planned with two main purposes in mind (1) getting the Freshmen to mix socially and (2) to become better acquainted with the College staff and different clubs on the campus.

The first party, a Dorm Social, sponsored by the W.R.A. and M.R.H.A., was held Tuesday night, September 6, from 7:30 to 9:00 at the Recital Hall. The sponsors presented an entertaining skit entitled "How About a Date" after which refreshments were served.

After the Wednesday night Prayer Meeting, the Freshmen attended a second party sponsored by College Church in the Recital Hall. At this party, the freshmen played a variety of games. Punch and assorted snack crackers were served.

Friday night, Miller Dining Hall was the scene of the third Party. This was a dress-up occasion sponsored by the faculty. Ron Workman was the M.C.

Classes Elect Officers

The following officers were elected by the respective classes on Tuesday morning, September 13.

Seniors: President, David Bowman; Vice President, Marilyn LeVe; Secretary, Joanne Sprague; Treasurer, Carmon Wenger; Student Council Rep., Davette Crow; Publicity Chairman, Marilyn Baker; Social Committee, Sue Conrad and Roger McMurrin; Class Sponsor, Prof. Don Murray.

Juniors: President, Jim Hutchinson; Vice President, Larry Reinhart; Secretary, Jan Bearinger; Treasurer, Donna Humble; Student Council Rep., Ralph Close; Publicity Chairman, Judy Meissner; Social Committee, Sonnie Silvers, Don James; Class Sponsor, Prof. Athel McCombs.

Quartets Travel 20,000 Miles

That's right! The Ambassadors and Crusaders traveled over 20,000 miles in Olivet's educational zone this summer.

For the benefit of the new Olivetians the Crusaders quartet is composed of Roger McMurrin of Cincinnati, Ohio. Ovid Young of Portsmouth, Ohio; Roger Kennedy and Bob Huff both from Flint, Michigan.

The Ambassadors quartet is composed of Jim Beard, Larry Harshman, Les Beals, and Gary Wilson. They hail from St. Louis, Missouri; Griggsville, Illinois; Flint, Michigan, and Clearwater, Florida, respectively.

Each quartet represented Olivet Nazarene College in six districts. In these twelve districts the quartets sang in approximately 225 churches. The Crusaders also spent two weeks at the Central Ohio district camp meeting in Columbus, Ohio. During this time they made a television appearance and sang on several radio programs.

Those who traveled with the Crusaders were Dr. Cotner, Dr. Perry, and Dr. Sayes. Professor Lunsford traveled with the Ambassadors.

Both quartets had the privilege of seeing the sights from an airplane. The Ambassadors' plane ride took them over the Lake of the Ozarks.

Both quartets also had a two-week vacation in June. During this time they went to the General Assembly in Kansas City.

Olivetians Join Campus Clubs

The tennis court in front of Chapman Hall was the center of activity yesterday Morning as Club Day was observed from 10:00 to 10:30 a.m.

The purpose of this occasion was to acquaint the student with the various campus clubs and to give him an opportunity to join the organizations whose purposes and activities most interest him.

Any student who was unable to enroll yesterday may still join by contacting the various club presidents. A list of these is available in the student council office and will be published in a future edition of the Glimmerglass.

The clubs which students may join are as follows:
Psychology Club
Public Affairs Club
Sociology Club
Commerce Club
Student Education Association
Music Educators
Ministerial Fellowship
Platonic Philosophical Society
Science Club
Home Economics Club
Missionary Band
Organ Guild

Etiquette Sketches

by Sue Williams

In connection with the idea presented by the Student Council, let's take a peek at "church manners."

It would be shocking to enter a church and to hear an undignified and irreverent babble of voices. If you should catch the eye of a friend, why not smile or nod lightly, waiting until the close of the service for audible greetings? Never nudge your neighbor to call attention to some unusual sight or amusing act—others behind you may also be attracted to the object of your unkind ridicule. Did you ever stop to think when you used a hymnal that it, too,

Friendliness Impresses Frosh

by Doris Kay Fieldler

Ranking high in the impressions of Olivetian Freshmen was the friendliness they felt extended to them as they arrived to take their places on campus.

Sincere praises to the faculty and administration for interest shown in each individual student came from almost every one interviewed. (How about it, Profs? Does this help make the many long hours spent during orientation and registration seem shorter?)

Another very frequent comment heard was that they appreciated the spiritual inspiration received in various services on Olivet's campus.

Bob Kremer, Milwaukee, Wisconsin says, "It's really great! I like the friendly spirit and emphasis on the spiritual life. I like the personal interest the faculty and administration take in each student. I think they give the kids quite a bit of independence compared to the other schools of this type."

Adrian Frodge from Pana, Illinois offers the following formula for overcoming Freshmen frustrations: "My first impression of Olivet was how immensely difficult and complicated everything was. But I soon learned—you just call Williams Hall, ask for her, and every complication dissolves."

Mike McCaslin, Lansing, Michigan "still can't get over the friendliness of the kids. I thought registration went off without a hitch except that I was there all day Monday. Even though we are all here studying for different education purposes, yet in this school we are all banned together because of our religion."

Minnie Woo, Hong Kong, China, was delighted to recognize students whose pictures she had seen in last year's GLIMMERGLASS sent to her by Dr. McClain. As she expressed herself, "I like it! I was looking for such kind of school and I find it. I don't particularly like any one special thing and I don't dislike anything. I like to be like everyone else."

John Smith, Danville, Illinois, much impressed with activities in the men's dorm, thinks "all the girls are real sharp and the kids friendly. I was also impressed with the feeling of oneness in such a large church as I attended College Church Sunday morning."

Said Marcella Eldridge,

Georgetown, Ohio, "One of the first things I noticed was the friendliness of the students. Prayer Band is one of the best things we have to add to the spiritual program of the college. I also found out that it isn't so easy to be on your own. You don't realize how few responsibilities you have until you get away from home."

Dick Gatlin, Columbus, Ohio thinks "they need a lot of trees around Nesbitt and Williams Hall. It's awfully sunny down there. Living on campus is very unhandy because when I get hungry I can't run and get a cold pork chop out of the refrigerator. I like it here because I fit. I feel more like I'm one of the kids than I did in high school. I like living on second floor because it's quiet."

Ruby Roberson, Hannibal, Missouri felt that she had been somewhat built up by talking with former students but was surprised to see how the school had grown since visiting here five years ago. "I was surprised to find so many Christian people in one area. One thing different from high school was starting each class with prayer."

John Boggs, Ironton, Ohio, is "not homesick yet. It's just about what I thought it would be like. I strongly recommend an elevator be placed in Chapman Hall. I'm anxious for Twirp Week."

Geraldine Butler, Kankakee, Illinois believes Olivet is nice and friendly but didn't think registration would take so long. "You have a lot of free time but you have to learn to budget your time for studying."

Kathye Cornell, Elmhurst, Illinois didn't really know what to expect since all her previous plans had been to attend Eastern Nazarene College. "I was really impressed with the inspiration of Prayer Band. The faculty have all gone out of their way to make us feel at home. We really like our room."

Perry Landers, Portland, Indiana suggests: "I think they should have a list of dating do's and don'ts posted on bulletin boards in each dorm. I liked the way the people in the administration building were so friendly and easy to talk to. I was impressed by the way the kids behaved in chapel."

Evangels Urge Participation

The Evangels, a Sunday afternoon visitation group, has an active program outlined for the year, according to Ken Martin, leader. In addition to the regular visitations at the nursing homes in the area and at Manteno State Hospital, there will be opportunities to visit the local jails for those who have had experience in this type of service.

The Evangels will be meeting every Sunday at 1:15 in front of Miller Dining Hall. All of those who wish to join are welcome. Transportation is provided, but there is a need for additional cars. If you are already a member, or plan to become one, and have a car you would use, please contact Ken Martin.

had been dedicated to God? Moistening fingers to turn pages and ruffling of leaves destroy their beauty.

Last, but not least, respect the minister or speaker; you could be in his shoes some day!

Chapel Echoes

by Bob Mitchell

Dr. Harold Reed: "The trend in Christian colleges is to grow academically stronger and spiritually weaker. With a strong program of evangelism first, this will not happen at Olivet."

Dr. John Cotner: "It is not for us to comprehend God, but for God to apprehend us."

Dr. J. F. Leist: "Do not let anything distract you from your true purpose."

Echoes of Laughter
from Chapel

Dr. Reed: "I have a name for a new society, Deta Eta Pizza."

Dr. Cotner: "First, I looked in the back seat."

Dr. Leist: "The freshman wonders, how did I get here? The sophomore wonders, how did the profs get here? The juniors wonders, how do I get out of here? The senior wonders, what will I do when I get out of here?"

Sport Slants

by Holland Lewis

Greetings, and welcome to Sports Slants and to the 1960-61 intramural sports program.

We open this new year with a brand new intramural program, and one which I believe is capable of meeting the desires and interest of every student at Olivet. Last year, under the appointment of Dr. Reed, an intramural committee presented to the students of O.N.C. a new intramural program.

Under the new set up there are six societies for competition. These societies were given Greek names and are as follows: Beta, Gamma, Delta, Zeta, Kappa and Sigma.

Extracurricular activities throughout campus life is vitally important toward creating a well balanced life physically, mentally and spiritually. Therefore it is important that we have a program to the advantage and interest of all students. With this in mind, the new program not only allows for competition in sports, but also in speech and music.

Our main concern here is, of course, the sports program. Perhaps the highest ideal of the intramural committee was participation and this is certainly emphasized in the new program. With six societies, there will be many more possible openings for participants than under the old three society set up. Another encouragement toward participation is the new point system. There will be a certain amount of points given to every member of the winning team and there will also be points given to every member of the losing team. It is therefore important that every team carry a full squad.

There will be a nice trophy given to the individual man and woman accumulating the most

Sigma-Kappa and Beta-Gamma To Clash In Football Opener

"Pedro" Slagg breaks for second as "Butcher" Ward clouts the ole apple for the "Fighting Faculty."

Faculty Falls To Frosh

by Adrian Frodge

At approximately 3:30 p.m. September 8, 1960, a game of paramount importance began. In one dugout (?) was the 1960 Freshman softball team and in the other, their veteran opponents, the Fighting Faculty.

Heading the list of outstanding names found in this great veteran Faculty team were "Big Daddy" McCombs, right field; "Stretch" Snowbarger, left field; "Butcher" Ward, fireballing pitcher; and the youngster who will probably be voted Rookie of the Year-Spanish-speaking catcher "Pedro" Slagg.

The Freshmen, led by coach Doug Mason, though young and inexperienced, showed plenty of potential power and talent. To name just a few of the greatest of the up-and-coming stars, there were pitcher Wilbur Gross; outfielder John Smith; catcher Gary St. Gemme; and everybody's favorite, Italian Tony Spatuzzi, first baseman.

As the game began everyone in the audience could sense that it would be a tense fight to the finish.

For those who did not see the game, here are a couple of the more exciting points. At one particularly tense moment, Big Daddy McCombs was heard giving Stretch Snowbarger a quick word of encouragement. "Hit a home run and you'll be on the 'Dean's List,'" he said. Stretch however, failed to come through and probably will be on "Dean's List."

In the sixth inning Big Daddy made a tremendously stellar play by bunting to load the bases. He was then put out trying to steal home from first base. But this move did not overshadow, in the least, his previous strategic maneuver.

Well, to make a long story short, the Faculty almost overwhelmed the Freshmen (but not quite) and were beaten 12 to 10. Umpires Ted Turner and Ron Hill both agreed in interviews after the game that regarding the "Fighting Faculty"—"You just can hardly get that kind no more!"

Sigma-Kappa, coached by Bud Hoovler, will take on Beta-Gamma, coached by Dave Knotts in Olivet's 1960 football opener, which will be played under the lights on Tuesday evening Sept. 27 at Bradley High School.

Game time will be 7:00 p.m., with Olivet's Marching Band being faturd at halftim.

Non-Intra Mural Activities Outlined

Summer is finally over and everybody has returned, including a few more than expected. Everybody is quite busy getting back in the old routine. As you know, there is plenty to do for all of us.

You have heard that old saying: "All work and no play . . ." Well, that does not hold true here at Olivet. We have plenty of activities for everyone who would like to participate.

For those who have an overdose of pep, or have some spare time on their hands, here is this semester's schedule of activities from 3:30-5:30. On Saturday is other than intramural.

Anyone interested in swimming may try our pool which is open Monday-Saturday. The time for men is 3:00-5:00 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and on Saturday 1:00-3:30. The schedule for women is 3:00-4:30 on Tuesday and

by Dean Waldfoegel

Since 1958 C. W. Ward has been head of the department of Physical Education at Olivet Nazarene College. A 1952 graduate of Olivet, Prof. Ward returned to the campus only after much thought and prayer. He believed it was God's will for him to leave his home and job in Atlanta, Ga., to come here. In Atlanta he was head baseball and basketball coach and assistant football coach in one of the high schools there. He is justly proud of many of the boys whom he coached. Eight of them were all-state football players. Two of them, Ted Leahy and Pohanny Carson, are at present playing professional football for the Washington Redskins. In 1957 he was honored by being selected all-city coach of Atlanta.

Prof. Ward attended high school in southern Illinois. He then joined the navy to see the world and, after playing on navy teams, was the recipient of eighteen scholarships from various colleges and universities. Of all sports, he enjoys participating in football and basketball most. "However," says Coach Ward, "that was when I was younger." In 1945 he married, and is now the father of two children—Joyce, age 15, and Kathy, age 9. In 1958 he received his master's degree from Auburn University in Alabama. The beginning of this, his third year at Olivet, Prof. Ward can point

Ladies' Sports Journal

by Evelyn Dorsey

When Mrs. Lora Donoho was a senior in high school, she attended a revival meeting and was saved for the first time. Until then she knew little or nothing about the Church of the Nazarene and had planned to enter the Southern Illinois University. Today she is Olivet's new women's physical education instructor.

Mrs. Donoho is from Blufford, Ill., and recently has been teaching in Decatur. She graduated from Olivet in 1953 and has been working on her master's degree in physical education at Southern Ill. U.

While a student at Olivet, Mrs. Donoho lettered in all the major sports, was a member of the "O" Club for 3 years, the Indian society's women's coach for 2 years, and was also a swimming instructor. She has taught for 7 years in the public high schools.

All of Olivet's women's physical education classes and intramurals will be under her direction. She will be in charge of the women's "O" Club and will be coaching that basketball team in the Tip Off game this October.

Judging from this personal interview with Mrs. Donoho and realizing her vivacity, ability, and interest in athletics, I join with the rest of Olivet's sportswomen to welcome Mrs. Donoho back to Olivet.

It is my sincerest desire to write in this column only those stories that are entirely truth-

Improvements Help Fall Sports Program

There's a place for everyone in sports this fall, as Coach Ward has set up a program for football, men's baseball, and girls softball. There will also be competition in tennis for men and women, if due interest is shown.

During the summer many improvements were made. Seven hundred dollars was spent to rebuild the baseball diamond and to build a new softball diamond. Also new uniforms and equipment have been ordered for the coming football season.

There will be six football games this fall. Three will be played on our own field and three will be played under the lights at Bradley High School. For football only, Sigma and Kappa, Beta and Gamma, and Delta and Zeta have joined forces.

At the close of the regular football season an All Star team will be selected. This team will play a post-season game against a team composed of players from the rest of the societies. This will also be true in baseball.

ful and completely fair. I intend to give sufficient coverage to the ladies' athletics on campus, to let this column become the communication point between Olivet's women athletes and their fans everywhere.

As an active participant myself, I will attempt to convey the happenings to my readers in a way satisfactory to both the athletes and their followers. Never will I intentionally build up one player or team and tear down others. I expect to give honest facts and pertinent information for reader interest and good news coverage.

I wish my readers to know my objectives, and if possible, to gain confidence in my integrity to keep them. I welcome eagerly suggestions or criticisms of either this column or of the athletic activities covered by it, and will consider them thoughtfully and with an open mind for any change for the better.

points for his or her society in all activities for the year. This includes sports, music and speech. The "President's cup" will be given by Dr. Reed to the society accumulating the greatest number total points, and here again the areas of sports, music and speech are included.

There will be one unusual change in regular competition in football this fall. Two societies will constitute a team, allowing for three teams; each of these will play four games. The teams will be combined as follows: Sigma-Kappa, Beta-Gamma, Delta-Zeta.

The "A" teams will be dressed out in new and colorful uniforms for the activities that lie ahead.

All in all, I believe we have a program that will be a great addition to our student life and I'm sure that I speak for the presidents of all the societies, when I say that the participation of all students is needed and wanted. The presidents of these societies are: Ron Workman, Beta; Carl Birchard, Gamma; Holland Lewis, Delta; Jim Hutchinson, Zeta; Preston Figgie, Kappa; Larry Hendrick, Sigma.

I would remind you that this new intramural program will only be as good as we the students make it. I hope that each one will do his part to contribute to the success of this program.

I would solicit any suggestions or ideas from the readers of this column as to the mater-

Society Rallies Held; Coaches Introduced

A kick-off rally for the intramural societies was held by the Student Council last Saturday evening.

Each society met at designated locations on campus at which time the new program was explained and the respective officers introduced. Refreshments and entertainment were also a part of the evening's activities.

Each society also introduced its colors. These are listed below.

Kappa — Red and White
Delta — Turquoise and Silver
Gamma — Black and Red
Sigma — Gold and Black
Zeta — White and Black
Beta — Orange and Blue

Mr. Larry Cox will be in charge of the equipment room this semester. It will be open for use weekdays from 3:00-3:30, and on Saturday from 1:00-1:30.

Our tennis courts are always ready for use. They are located on the far side of the gym and in front of Chapman Hall. The courts will not be in use when matches are being played.

Also, two new croquet sets have been purchased this year. They can be used by inquiring in the lobby of the mens dorm. The croquet court is at the far end of the tennis courts in front of Chapman Hall.

We hope that you will take advantage of these facilities and have a wonderful year at Olivet.

with pride to many improvements made in the athletic department under his direction. New tennis courts, a new girl's softball diamond, and an improved baseball diamond are a part of these improvements. Now the big news is the $10,000 shower room, a new therapy room, and a new locker system. In addition, we are initiating a new intramural program this fall under his direction about which you will read in another column of this paper. Prof. Ward urges that everyone participate, for this is the key to the success of our new societies.

We would urge each student to make it a point not only to meet Prof. Ward personally, but to cooperate with him in every way. We sincerely hope that this will be one of the best years sportswise that Olivet has known.

By the sound of the title, this column may seem at a casual glance, to be only a lot of wind. In this type column in years past this may have been the case, but I shall endeavor to convey through these few short lines allotted to me each issue, ideas worthy of ponderance. I shall not use the press as a means to slam individuals or personal beliefs: good things shall be praised and bad things shall be denounced.

The preceding paragraph probably sounds like the campaign promises of a young pioneering politician or a courageous columnist. Speaking of campaigns and election promises, a good vote getter for next year's student body elections might be the continuation of the sidewalk from Nesbit Hall a few yards on to Olivet Street. Who knows, perhaps this year's Associated Student government may do something about it — well, we'll see.

I speak now to the freshmen who are just starting out on the most fascinating four years of their life. It is time to let loose of mother's apron strings and enter into the program here at Olivet with your whole self: mind, spirit and body. Correct discipline of these three will insure a happy, well-rounded college career.

There is one activity in particular of which all incoming freshmen should beware, that of the "Universe sitter." This individual spends the greater portion of his study hours, or any hours, socializing his grades right down the drain. After a recent interview with Roy Johnson, president of the Psychology Club, which ran a correlation on Universe sitters and "ineligibility listers," I discovered that most Universe sitters can expect their names to appear upon that cursed document.

I'm sure that everyone is ready to do his part in everything this year to make '60-'61 session the most enjoyable and beneficial year in Olivet's history.

Ask Your Pastor

Q. - How can I know the will of God?

A. - It is not difficult to believe in divine guidance, but it is a problem to know how God guides. Dr. H. E. Jessop in his book "The Lord Shall Guide Thee Continually," gives the six fold method. 1. The written word. 2. The inner voice, which must harmonize with the principles of the scriptures. 3. The providential opening of doors. (God never presses where doors refuse to open) 4. Restraining influences. 5. Sanctified common sense. 6. The agency of devout people.

Make use of all of these. The answer will be given.

therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." There we find the true motive for Christian excellence. It is not for our own glory that we should strive to do our best academically or in any other way. It is rather that we may better glorify God, both by giving him the glory for our mental ability and by being able to serve him better as a result of our efforts to prepare ourselves. Thus the prime motive for academic excellence is to glorify God.

A second motive for academic excellence is a desire to serve our fellow man better. Again quoting St. Paul, "study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." In order to present true Christianity to a sinful world, we must be "workmen that need not be ashamed." We must be able to rightly divide the word of truth. The great wealth of knowledge that is here for our asking can be an invaluable aid in preparing us to be unashamed workmen. There is no excuse for a young person to leave this campus without absorbing some of this knowledge and putting it to good use in later life.

Finally, getting right down where we live, the Christian should of all people have a purpose in life. Part of that purpose should be a desire to in some way be of service to Jesus Christ in the spreading of the Gospel. Yet I see young people on this campus who day in and day out neglect their studies. They may pray, testify, and attend church services regularly, but nevertheless fail to keep up this very important phase of their life, and finally their name appears on the aforementioned list. Let me ask a pointed question. Can we be Christians and neglect any important phase of our life that affects our total Christian witness? I think not.

So let me urge every reader, especially the Christian who desires to give his very best to the Master, take advantage of the great opportunity offered at this institution of higher learning. First, make sure that Christ reigns supreme in your life, then strive for academic excellence so that you may better serve Him.

to call it. (One of the most amusing aspects, I have noticed, concerning this presidential election, is the entry of so many of the political ignorant, whose sole interest in this campaign is this "religious issue." So, we appeal to people's prejudices and thereby "get out the vote!" Just think of the "political activity" we can expect from the racially prejudiced when a negro runs for president.)

I leave you with this excerpt from "A Guidepost for Action in the 1960 Election," a joint statement of one hundred churchmen of various faiths.

Your Prexy's Voice

Hi — Several Sunday evenings ago some Olivetians met together for an informal chat about a word that is often heard on college campuses. That word is Collegiate. For several hours we discussed what relevance this word had to Olivet and came to several conclusions which I should like to share with you in the Glimmerglass this semester.

Being a collegiate Olivetian refers to a quality of attitude that we feel toward our alma mater. This attitude toward our college is more commonly known as school spirit. So if we're going to be collegiate we're going to have to capture something of the spirit of Olivet. The question we must answer now is how can we as students attain school spirit. There are two basic answers to this question and for the rest of this semester I want to talk with you about them.

The first thing we need to do to generate school spirit is realize what we do have at Olivet in the way of program, faculty, resources, etc. Last spring during a Prayer Band exchange with Wheaton we were privileged to have two Wheaton students on campus for a day. As Roger McMurrin and I took them on a tour of the campus, we explained to them about various phases of our student life and academic program. Time after time we were interrupted by their exclamations of "I wish we had that at our college" or "tell us how we could start something like this on our campus." I was thrilled with their response to my Olivet, and my school spirit went up ten degrees because of that discussion. This reaction was precisely the same whenever we've had other college students on our campus; so let's look around and realize how privileged we are.

Well, I'm about of space; but I'll be back with more next issue about our alma mater.
